PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I'm a Full-Stack Developer with strong product strategy and marketing skills, backed by 2+ years of experience across music tech, e-commerce, and consumer goods. I transitioned to software to explore my passion for technology while retaining my marketing expertise. I'm now seeking opportunities outside the music industry to apply my diverse skill set. My goal is to leverage my unique blend of technical knowledge, strategic perspective, and marketing skills to solve complex problems.

EXPERIENCE

Soundsteer 🔗

Boston, MA

Lead Full-Stack Engineer & Product Manager

June 2023 - Present

Soundsteer is an AI-powered SaaS platform in the music tech space that I co-founded.

- Led product strategy and roadmap definition, delivering 4 major releases over 6 months that greatly improved the product's value proposition and user experience.
- Conducted 20+ product demos to record labels and managers and facilitated onboarding process, resulting in enhanced customer understanding and accelerated adoption.
- Talked with 50+ artists through in-depth interviews during MVP development, identifying key pain points to refine core product features and marketing strategy.
- Engineered a personalized AI agent using Python, LangChain, and FastAPI, implementing custom tools and optimizing prompts to achieve a 65% higher success rate in task completion, with query performance and cost monitored via LangSmith.
- Developed 5 critical microservices using Node.js and Express, optimized deployment via Docker and GCP, reducing response times by 20% and lowering infrastructure costs by 30%.
- Integrated multiple RESTful APIs to synchronize user data from social media platforms, enabling data visualization features.
- Design and implement React components for the AI agent interface and its tools, simplifying user experience.
- Develop database integrity functions using PostgreSQL, ensuring data consistency and improving system reliability.
